Editor's Note

Pasaa has passed the 20 volume mark, and in the years covered many varied articles have been published, reflecting the changes in language teaching and learning over the past two decades. With this mark, it is now time to present the reader with a complete index of all those articles. Consequently, this edition of Pasaa contains a complete listing of all articles published in Volume I - XX (1970 - 1990). For your convenience we have compiled three lists, namely, by author (with abstracts where available), subject matter and year.

Readers should note that prior to Volume IV (1974), Pasaa was known as the Bulletin of the English Language Centre and as such, contained several articles written in Thai. It only became Pasaa when it was taken over by the Central Institute of English Language in 1974. CIEL was itself superseded as the publisher of Pasaa by Chulalongkorn University Language Institute in 1977. As a result, there were several format changes and articles written in Thai ceased to be included.

In recent years, with the expansion of other projects, the Institute has been unable to publish Pasaa as regularly as it once was. Consequently, from this issue onwards, for the foreseeable future, Pasaa will be an annual publication with one issue per volume.

Despite this, we hope to continue to bring you different perspectives on the language teaching scene for the next 20 years.
