

ABOUT OUR CONTRIBUTORS

John MacGillivray

At present, John is a teacher of English at an international school in Indonesia. At the time he submitted this article for publishing, he was a lecturer in English at Chulalongkorn University Language Institute, where he was involved in preparing materials for the Advanced Social English Course for students of Commerce and the Spoken Communication Course for first-year Chula students. He is particularly interested in integrated English programmes.

Donald J. Ford

Don, who has recently taken up a post as lecturer of History at Los Angeles Community College is as much interested in history as language teaching. He taught English for one year at Beijing Institute of Foreign Languages in China before coming to Thailand in June 1981 and working at CULI as a teacher of English and material developer. He made a lot of solid contributions in planning and preparing EFL materials for students of Political Science at Chulalongkorn University.

Mayuree Durongphan

Mayuree is currently involved in teaching reading and writing Spoken Communication materials for first-year students at Chulalongkorn University. She received her first degree in English from Chulalongkorn University, and her M.A. (in TESL) from UCLA. The other two articles she wrote for PASAA and PASAA PARITAT are "An Overview of Passive Voice in English" and "Suggestology".

Thiraboon Somboontakerng

Thiraboon is Head of ELT Co-ordination Unit of the National Academic Co-ordination Division. He is also involved in teaching reading and speaking to Chula students. Prior to this, he worked as an education officer in Planning Division of General Education Department. He used to teach EFL, mostly in the secondary-level institutions, and worked with Peace Corps volunteers to Thailand.

Jerry G. Gebhard

Jerry is now working on his Ph.D. programme in TESOL at Columbia University. While in Thailand, he taught listening and speaking at Thammasart University (1980) and worked part-time as a teacher of English at CULI. His main interest was the teaching of speaking and listening.

Nantha Gohwong

Nantha is a lecturer of English in Department of Languages and Social Studies of KMIT, Thonburi Campus. Her main concern is teaching reading and writing to KMIT's students. She is particularly interested in English for Science and Technology, and at present she is the editor of KMIT's EST Bulletin.

Nantika Thanomsat

Nantika is currently teaching English at CULI. She obtained her Ph.D. in Sociolinguistics from Northwestern University. Her main interest is the teaching of reading and speaking.

Bang-orn Savangvarorose

Bang-orn is Head of Task Force II of CULI. She is interested in the teaching of reading and listening. At the moment, she is a member of the Translation Group which is developing materials for use in translation courses in the Faculty of Communication Arts.

Wittaya Khemngwad

Wittaya is a graduate student at Mahidol University

The Bell Schools

Bath Cambridge Norwich Saffron Walden

Director: Peter Strevens MA FIL

All the Bell schools are members of ARELS

All the Bell schools are recognised as efficient by the Department of Education and Science

The schools offer a comprehensive range of courses with :

- * High quality tuition by experienced teachers
- * Attractive locations
- * Accommodation with selected local families
- * Full social programme

Please send me further information on :

General English Courses in

- | | |
|--|---|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Bath | <input type="checkbox"/> Courses for Teachers of English |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Cambridge | <input type="checkbox"/> Summer Courses |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Norwich | <input type="checkbox"/> English Literature Programme |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Saffron Walden | <input type="checkbox"/> Courses of English for Academic
Purposes and Study Skills |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Intensive Tailor-made
Courses for Groups | <input type="checkbox"/> GCE 'A' levels |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Individual Private tuition | |

Name _____

Address _____

Return to :

Mervyn Martin BA, PGCE, MSc.,
Marketing Co-ordinator,
Bell Educational Trust,
1 Red Cross Lane,
CAMBRIDGE CB2 2QX.

Telephone: Cambridge (0223) 212333
Telex: 817916 BELLCO G